DONOVAN AWAITS TALK WITH CASTRO

Havana, Oct. 10 (AP).—Negotiator James B. Donovan was told to stand by today to meet Premier Fidel Castro in what could be final talks bringing the release of 1,113 captives of the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion.

Responsible sources said the New York attorney and two Cuban members of the rescue committee were advised to keep themselves available to meet with Castro, but no hour was fixed.

Informants here said Pan American Airways has offered to fly out the prisoners to Miami as quickly as possible should the negotiations—reported to be progressing—end favorably.
